METTER, Ga., March 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Jessie Gaskins, 25, was killed last night by her husband, E. Gaskins, 46, in an automobile in front of the home of her brother, Plummer Hamm, nine miles west of here.

Twelve knife wounds were inflicted on Mrs. Gaskins' body. Her throat was cut. Several cuts were on her arms and a deep gash was across her back. One stab wound apparently penetrated her heart.

Mrs. Gaskins and her husband had been separated six weeks. Relatives said she had received a letter from him saying unless their differences were settled there would be trouble.

Last night he came to her brother's home, where his wife and her relatives had retired. She dressed and went out to his automobile when he told her he wanted to see her for a few minutes. Relatives said she had been there only a few minutes when she began to scream. They added that the car was cranked, that it started a few feet, was backed up in front of the gate, and the body of the woman was thrown out in the ditch in front of the Hamm home.

Relatives said that Gaskins then left, driving at a rapid gait. He was traced toward Cobbtown by Sheriff Trappnell and a posse but was still at large late today.

Mrs. Gaskins is survived by three little girls, her mother, her brothers and six sisters. She and Gaskins were married eight years ago, after his divorce from his first wife.

The oldest child is seven years of age and the youngest 10 months. The two older children were living with their father and the youngest with the mother. Mrs. Gaskins' relatives have been taking care of several children of Gaskins by his first marriage.

Gaskins was driving a Ford 1925 model automobile, relatives said. He was described as tall, slender and clean shaven.

Wiley L. Moore and Sam Freeman Praise
"Fine Unselfish Spirit" of 14 Councilmen Supporting Proposal.

Wiley L. Moore, councilman from the seventh ward and chairman of the finance committee of council, and Sam Freeman, former member of council from the tenth ward, both of whom were pioneer supporters of the move to outlaw ward politics by nomination of all members of council in primaries in which every registered voter is entitled to cast ballots, Sunday praised the action of 14 members of council in supporting the proposed change in the nomination system.

In addition to the 14 members of council—those men most vitally affected in such a change—seven of the 13 members of the aldermanic board also have signified their intention to vote for the change, thus assuring passage of the proposal of Councilman Joseph E. Herman, of the fourth ward, when it is presented to council for action at the next regular meeting of that body April 7.

Saturday, 14 members of council went unopposed to record as favoring the plan, stating they believe that council should accede to the public demand for the change, and signifying their intention to support the measure when it is offered to council.

Under the present system, councilmen are nominated in primaries in which only voters of the wards from which they are elected participate. There is a widespread demand that all voters be permitted to cast ballots in the nomination of council members just as they do now in the case of nominations of aldermen.

Action of council members in stating they will support the proposed change deserves the commendation of their colleagues and signifies the fine unselfish spirit existing in that body," Mr. Moore said.

"I feel gratified that so many of them have decided to bury any personal ambition they might have in fighting any effort to change from the system under which they obtained their offices and wish to take this opportunity of expressing my gratifications," Mr. Freeman declared.

"The fine spirit with which a majority of members of council have declared they will support the proposed change is indicative of the fact that council is taking steps to accede to the demands of a large majority of the voters that the plan be adopted," Mr. Freeman declared.

"These men are to be congratulated. It also puts the matter squarely up to the democratic executive committee."

"With a majority of those most vitally affected championing the change, the executive committee should, in my opinion, vote for the change without any delay and hold the primary elections this fall under the new system. I can see no reason for delay under the circumstances."

Leading citizens have endorsed the proposal, and J. P. Wall, chairman of the democratic executive committee has indicated that he will insist that the matter be threshed out on the floor of the city at the next meeting of the committee independent of any recommendation of any sub-committee from that body.

RADIO TELEPHONE SERVICE TO LINK TWO CONTINENTS

North and South America
Will Be Connected in New System, Beginning
Thursday Noon.

Regular telephone service between North America and South America will be available to the public at 12 noon, New York time, Thursday.

This new service will interconnect 20,000,000 telephones in the United States, as well as all telephones in Cuba, and all the principal points in Mexico and Canada, with the telephones in the Argentine Republic and with the cities of Santiago in Chile and Montevideo in Uruguay.

The link between the two continents will be a short wave radio telephone circuit 5,300 miles in length connecting the overseas radio stations of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company in the United States with the International Telephone & Telegraph Corporation's stations in the vicinity of Buenos Aires.

The service will be in operation for eight hours daily, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., New York time. The rate for a 3 minutes' conversation between New York and all points in the province of Buenos Aires (the first South American zone) will be $36. For calls to and from other parts of the United States the same extra zone charges will be added to this base rate of $36 as are now added to the base rate for trans-Atlantic service.

The second South American zone includes the remainder of Argentine and Montevideo, Uruguay. An extra charge of $1.20 is made for calls in this zone. A charge of $3 is added to the base rate.

Calls for South American points reached by the new service can be filed at any time after 12 noon on April 1, and will be accepted for completion in the order of their filing.

Radio transmission of messages from the radio link in the new service is 5,300 miles long. For the present there will be a single talking circuit composed of two radio channels, one for northward and one for southward transmission. These channels will be operated on three different pairs of wavelengths, each pair being used for a different time of day. Running in a direction at a slight angle to the meridian and having its center near the equator, the circuit encircles the globe twice.

Radio transmission of messages from Europe to the Americas will be from the American Telephone & Telegraph Company's overseas transmission center at Lawrenceville, N. J. The receiving station for messages from South America will be the Netcong (N. J.) station which also receives short wave transmission from Europe. The transmitting and receiving stations of the International Tele-

PROBE CONTINUES AS PROSECUTION CALLS GRAFT CASE

Grand Jury to Resume
Investigations Into City
Council and School Fees;
Trial Tuesday.

With one arm of the prosecuting staff directing the state's cases against Jack White, business associate of the convicted councilman Harry York, and Purchasing Agent W. P. Price and the other asking new indictments against city officials and employees and directing the grand jury's inquiry into the costs of architectural services for the board of education, what is considered one of the most important weeks in the now five-month-old graft investigation begins today.

Councilman York, convicted 10 days ago of bribery and given a term of three years on the chain gang, was reported recovered from his illness which last week caused the delay in the trial of White or Price, he being an important defense witness in both cases. Dr. L. P. Baker, his physician, said Sunday there was no doubt but that York would be able to be in court at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning when the cases of White and Price are called for trial before Judge John D. Humphries.

Unused veniremen totaling about 125, who were summoned at the outset of the York trial, have been directed to report to Judge Humphries' court Tuesday morning and from there the jury, which will decide the case to be put on trial, will be selected.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin said Sunday night that the case of White would be called first and that Price would be put on trial in the event that White's counsel should for any reason obtain a further continuance.

Prosecution Ready.

"The state is and has been ready for trial in both of these cases," Mr. Boykin said. "It is our intention to try White first and if possible to complete the Price trial this week also. However, I do not think anything can happen to keep either of them from being cleared from the docket."

Mr. Boykin added that regardless of this week's developments in the inquiry and the trials of those accused he would permit nothing to stand in the way of the scheduled trial of Walter C. Taylor, veteran city clerk, who is scheduled to face a jury on April 8 to answer to an indictment of 16 counts, all charging bribery.

"There will be no change in the plans for the Taylor trial," Mr. Boykin said. "His counsel have had ample time to prepare his defense and the state has only a little more work to do for preparation of its side."

Interest over the week-end was centered in the inquiry, scheduled to trial tomorrow into the architectural cost of erecting a new high school for the city, which has been provided for in the bond issue of 1928.

Solicitor-General Boykin will present to the grand jury for investigation and action the statements rendered by the G. Lloyd Preacher Company and paid by the city. These are said to have included a payment of $10,000 to the Preacher company's office and a number of various items placed on the statements by the architect.

The contract between the board and the Preacher company, entered into in 1927, also will be scrutinized, it was said Sunday night.

Mr. Preacher's statements.

"Just why the city should pay a percentage of certain ridiculous items in the Preacher statements will be gone through thoroughly," Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens, who has been handling this phase of the inquiry, declared Sunday in announcing that he would call on Assistant Superintendent Raymond R. Ritchie, of the public school system, to furnish the grand jury with the contract between the board and the architect.

"These items were passed by an auditor, approved by Mr. Ritchie and paid by City Comptroller West but many of them appear to be private bills and we do not think that the city should pay any part of these under any circumstances."

There will be no session of the grand jury today but Solicitor General William Schley Howard is expected to give final approval to a number of additional indictments, known to already have been drawn and awaiting only the voting of the grand jury. These indictments are expected to hit at least two members of council and several others and will grow out of the purchase of a number of trucks by the city.

The grand jury was reported ready to vote these indictments last week and it was said that they were being delayed by the absence of Mr. Boykin, home with an infected tooth. It now is reported that they have been given the solicitor-general's approval and are ready for final drafting by Mr. Howard and submission to the grand jury.

ADDRESSES JEWS

Detroit Leader Principal
Speaker as Hebrews End
First Day of Meeting.

Observing that the literature of fiction has "painted the Jew as demon or as saint," Dr. Leo M. Franklin, of Detroit, in an address delivered before the first southeastern convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations at the Standard Club of Atlanta Sunday night, declared that "the real Jew, the Jew at his best, is what he is by virtue of his birthright."

"The genius of the Jew," Dr. Franklin said, "lies in a different direction. And it is the Jew who is true to that genius whom the world does not know. Changing environmental conditions have played upon him from every side and he has fitted himself to survive almost everywhere into the life around him."

The first convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations opened at the Biltmore hotel Sunday morning and will continue through today. It brought to Atlanta representative Jews from the southeast and speakers of national prominence in the Hebrew church.

Great Possibilities.

"I see great possibilities and potentialities in our proposed organization," Wendell M. Levi, president of Temple Sinai, Sumter, S. C., told the convention at its opening session Sunday.

"There is no religion in America that has so many adherents as the Jews, particularly in the south. Levi said, "or as little central government as does the Jew. We have no hierarchy. I am confident, however, that with the creating of such an association as is planned here today great good will be derived by all of us through the mutual contacts that we will make."

One of the striking notes in the talk of Mr. Levi was the suggestion, made with some emphasis, of having the proposed organization foster a back-to-the-farm movement among the Jews, particularly in the south. Originally, he pointed out, the Jews were agricultural and Mr. Levi believes they can be won again to the farm.

Among other prominent Jews attending on the program are Julius W. Freiberg, chairman board of managers, department of synagogues and schools, of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations; Leon Schwartz, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Israel L. Kaplan, Jacksonville, Fla.; Dr. Harry W. Ettelson, Memphis, and Leslie Weil, one of the outstanding business and civic leaders of North Carolina.

Dr. Franklin's Address.

Dr. Franklin's subject was "To Be a Jew." He said:

"There is a something to the Jew which is inward and not outward at all, which has to do with his emotions rather than with his activities, an intangible—almost one might say an inscrutable—something. It is an attitude of mind born of a conscious destiny. It is an outlook upon life that springs from a unique psychology. It permeates and penetrates the whole of his life."

"It is that something in his soul which makes him at his best not a man of affairs, not the go-getter, not the subtle thinker, not the analytic scientist, but the prophet, the palmer, the intrepid preacher of right, the martyr to a martyr's cause, the willing Messiah, the servant of God."

"I am thinking of the Jew as I would like the world to think of him. I am thinking of him as a more or less impractical man and as one not holding always the key to those successes which modern men most esteem. I am thinking of the Jew who is the dreamer, the dreamer of a great dream which the world does not yet understand, if indeed it will ever come to understand it."

Jew as Visionary.

"I am thinking of the Jew not quite comfortable and somewhat out of place in the midst of this industrial civilization of ours, his thoughts, his prayers turned back a thousand years, if you will, four thousand years, to the days when his forbears dared to forevision a time when man to man would be as brother, when nation to nation would be as friends not foes, when the dignity of every man should be recognized."

"Why do I say these things to you, men and women? I say them because I feel that we are here gathered to emphasize anew the part which the Jew must continue to play upon the stage of history if he is to justify his further existence. He must continue to be the teacher of truth and the preacher of righteousness. There must be unity in Judaism not for self-service but for service of life."

NO NEW TREATIES, IS BRITISH REPLY TO BRIAND'S PLAN

Will Not "Tie Selves Down" to Fight Without Being Able to Control
Cause of War.

ITALIANS TAKE
IDENTICAL VIEW

Briand's Effort to Show
Punitive Measures
Promised Aggressor Under League Fail.

BY WEBB MILLER.
United News Staff Correspondent.
LONDON, March 30.—(UN)—Great Britain refuses to enter a military security pact with France as the price of reduction of French naval demands.

This attitude, which may dash hopes of a five-power agreement, was made absolutely clear today by a British spokesman after Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald had conferred with Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, of Italy.

The spokesman added, however, that negotiations seeking a formula satisfactory to both France and Britain were continuing.

No More Commitments.

England, the spokesman said, is anxious and willing to go the limit for peace and for improvement of the machinery for keeping peace and giving security against war.

"But any further military commitments are absolutely impossible," he declared. "They would be tantamount to tying ourselves down to engage in military operations without being able to control the situation from which they arose. No British government could undertake such commitments, which are contrary to the feeling of the whole British people."

The statement was widely interpreted as marking the end of the present phase of Franco-British pact discussions, which the French altered their attitude. The British viewpoint was seen as coinciding exactly with the American attitude, in that London refuses to let the French alter their commitments in advance regarding any future situation over which it has no control.

In Failure for Briand.

Thus the British are maintaining a position which they have consistently pursued for the past eight years, namely that penalties against an aggressor must be set forth in Articles 11 and 16 of the League of Nations covenant, should be optional with the members and not mandatory as France insists.

The British spokesman's strongly worded announcement was taken to mean that Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, of France, has failed to convince the British that the framework of the league contained a possible formula capable of satisfying French security needs.

Although Briand and Foreign Secretary Henderson will compare divergent draft proposals tomorrow, and the way still lies open to explore some other avenue toward a security pact, the French expressed pessimism when they learned of the British statement.

Whether or not, and in what manner the Italian delegation may have figured in the British decision could not be ascertained. The Italians, it is known, however, that Grandi and MacDonald discussed their countries' interpretation of Article 16 before lunching at Chequers today.

Italy's Statement.

Word of the discussion was given in a communique issued by the Italian delegation, which said:

"Signor Grandi, accompanied by Signor Rosso, had lunch with Prime Minister MacDonald at Chequers, before lunch, in a conversation lasting more than an hour. MacDonald and Grandi discussed the present state of the work of the conference. Grandi again took the opportunity to state Italy's viewpoint on the problem of disarmament. The position of Great Britain and Italy also was examined regarding the question of interpretation."

HUGE GAS MERGER IS CONSUMMATED

Atlanta Interests Involved in Combination Affecting South.

NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—The United Gas Corporation, a new company organized under the laws of Delaware, tonight announced agreement by the companies involved on its plan to acquire securities of the present United Gas Company, several of the latter's subsidiaries, the Louisiana Gas and Fuel Company, and the Palmer Corporation of Louisiana.

The consolidation under contemplation was described as being one of the largest gas mergers in the world. The operating gross revenue of the companies involved was approximately $22,000,000 in 1929 from the sale of natural gas alone. The announcement estimated the operating gross revenue of the subsidiaries of the new corporation in its first year after consummation would be in excess of $20,000,000.

The announcement said that in the meantime the present United Gas Company has financed and, through its subsidiaries, has completed the purchase of the properties in Texas and Louisiana formerly owned by Magnolia Gas Company, Louisiana Gas and Fuel Company, is at present a subsidiary of Electric Power and Light Corporation and the Palmer Corporation of Louisiana is a subsidiary of Louisiana Gas and Fuel.

If the plan is consummated, the announcement said, the new corporation will be a subsidiary of Electric Power and Light Corporation.

The United Gas Corporation at the time the plan becomes effective.

BUILDING IS RAZED IN $25,000 BLAZE

Explosion of Gas Tanks
Lends Spectacular Touch to Warehouse Fire.

Fire of an undetermined origin early Sunday morning destroyed the warehouse belonging to the Universal Car Loading and Distributing Company, on Hunter street, between Mangum and Haynes, causing an estimated loss of $20,000 to $25,000, and also burned a freight car and most of a carload of peanuts, valued at $8,000, which were on the freight terminal tracks consigned to the Estes and Reese warehouse.

The explosion of between ten and fifteen cylinder tanks of compressed ammonia gas, beginning when flames enveloped the warehouse, gave the fire a spectacular touch. Ammonia gas, carrying a charge of 3,000 pounds of pressure to the square inch, is not inflammable until heat penetrates the containers, when it becomes explosive.

Parts of the tanks were hurled as far away from the freight terminal as the Davis street branch of the Georgia Power company, nearly three-quarters of a mile. Other cylinder heads, exploding, went through the air and descended on roofs of adjoining houses, in two instances digging deep holes in the house tops.

The warehouse of the Universal company was actually owned by the Addison-Rudelsa Wholesale Lumber company. Although it had been sold to the Universal, conveyance papers had not been completed. The loss of the building, according to J. M. Rudelsa, was about $5,000. The structure was located just door to the freight terminal of the A. B. & C. railroad.

J. B. Johnston, manager of the Universal C. L. & D. company, said that all records of the company had been destroyed in the blaze but that the warehouse was filled only to partial capacity. The Derby Distributing company, across the street, suffered a $4,000 loss through broken windows and by water used in fighting the Universal fire. The Universal warehouse was a one-story, frame building with a composition roof.

Thirty-eight alarms—only two of which proved costly—were answered by the Atlanta fire department during a 40-hour period ending Sunday night, according to reports at central station.

In addition to the $25,000 warehouse blaze, the other serious summons was to 960 Piedmont avenue, N. E., where flames early Sunday morning heavily damaged the roof of a two-story apartment building and forced several of its occupants—clad only in night clothing—to seek refuge in the street. "Defective wiring" was listed at headquarters as the cause of the blaze.

CENSUS WORKERS READY FOR TASK

250 Enumerators Will Be Gathering Data Here
Wednesday Morning.

Bright and early Wednesday morning 100,000 census enumerators will begin their task of tapping on the front doors of some 30,000,000 American homes for the purpose of assembling information of every conceivable kind concerning every single resident of these United States.

In Atlanta there will be approximately 250 persons doing the same thing as one small part of a vast "peace time" army engaged in fighting the biggest statistical battle in the history of the civilized world.

For the past few weeks the Atlanta group has been having daily instructions from Dr. Elizabeth Broach, supervisor of this district, which comprises DeKalb and Fulton counties, and she announces that all necessary details have received their required amount of attention.

She requests that every resident of this district be on the lookout for the enumerators beginning Wednesday morning and that the information requested be given in every detail.

The census here is expected to require two full weeks of actual enumeration which will be followed by still more weeks of checking up on the results.

INDIAN'S DEFENSE TO BEGIN TODAY

Dozen Witnesses Will Be Called in Attempt to Save Lila Jimerson.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 30.—(AP)—State of New York court today was hearing the defense of Lila Jimerson, of the Seneca tribe, for sight of whom a courtroom crowd had argued and fought police for a fortnight, remained in the section of their cells today, alone with their Indian thoughts.

Through the long, sleepy hours of a quiet Sunday, Lila, undisturbed by visitors, had opportunity to muse over the attempt of the state to place on her thin shoulders half the responsibility for the murder of Mrs. Henri Marchand, wife of a Buffalo sculptor. She had ample time to wonder if the dozen witnesses called by her counsel could smash the story of the state's witnesses that she conspired with Nancy, old Cayuga, to murder the man of affairs, not the go-getter, not the subtle thinker, not the analytic scientist, but the prophet, the palmer, the intrepid preacher of right, the martyr to a martyr's cause, the willing Messiah, the servant of God.

"I am thinking of the Jew as I would like the world to think of him. Dry Officers Kill Fleeing Farmer

RICHMOND, Ky., March 30.—(AP) Ambrose Winslow, 30, a farmer, was shot and killed today when his home was raided by a party of officers who said they found a small quantity of whisky in his home. He was shot in the back as he fled, by Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Lane.

The shooting occurred at Owlsey Fork, about 14 miles from this central Kentucky county seat, when his home was shot once, Lane firing from a doorway in Williams' home when the latter ignored a command to surrender, the officers said.

Williams' wife and two children witnessed the shooting. He fell in the yard and died before medical assistance could be summoned.

Other officers in the raiding party were Sheriff Albert Bogie, of Madison county, and Deputy United States Marshal Boyd Sandlin. They returned here with Lane, bringing the liquor they said they found.

Lane was not arrested.

Entombed Miners Believed To Be Dead

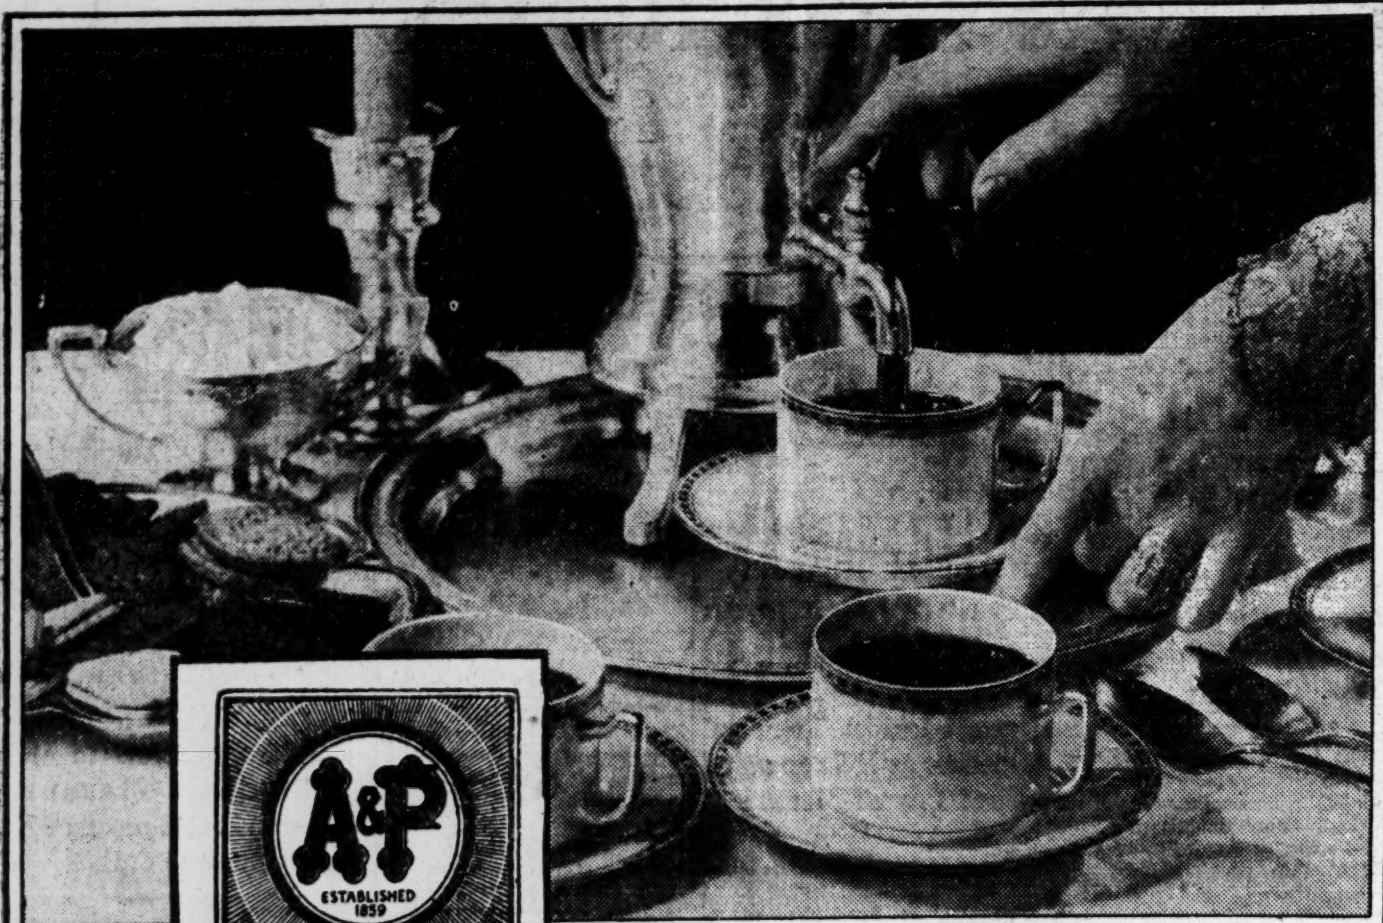

KETTLE ISLAND, Ky., March 30.—(AP)—Rescue crews, fighting carbon monoxide that made short shifts necessary, tonight had reached within 200 feet of where they believe 16 men, trapped by an explosion yesterday in the Pioneer Coal Company mine, are entombed.

The workers expected to reach the men early tomorrow but feared only dead bodies would be found.

Rescue efforts late tonight were tense, as a halt as an exhaust fan drew the poisonous air from the shaft. Though all wore gas masks, many of the rescue workers were affected by the toxic gas, and 15 were sent to Pineville tonight to recuperate.

Slight hope that any of the 16 men had survived was held by the rescuers after more than 24 hours of continual and dangerous toil.

Capt. Clayton Observes 82nd Birthday Today

In the same way that he celebrates all the other working days of the year, Captain Robert M. Clayton, vice president of the American Savings bank, will observe his 82nd birthday today. His only digression will be to attend a dinner party in his honor at the home of his niece, Mrs. Oscar Palmour, in College Park, instead of dining with his nephew and another niece, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clayton, with whom he lives at 585 Ashby street, S. W.

For 40 years Captain Clayton was city engineer of Atlanta, retiring 15 years ago the past January. During the period he held this office he directed the building of the city's water-works and the Washington street viaduct. Since he retired from his official position with the city, he has devoted all his time to the bank. He comes down every morning, except Sunday, and attends to his banking duties until lunch time. Sometimes in the afternoon, he takes a long ride.

On Sundays, Captain Clayton attends the Central Presbyterian church, in which he is an elder. His only other affiliation, apart from the American Savings bank, is the democratic party. He is a dyed-in-the-wool disciple of Jefferson, Jackson and their illustrious followers.

Born in Asheville, N. C., Captain Clayton remained there until he was 16, when he volunteered for service in the Confederate army and was assigned to the 60th North Carolina regiment. He was made a lieutenant in a short time and subsequently promoted to captain. He fought in all the major campaigns of the war, including the Battle of Atlanta. Of four brothers who went through the four years' struggle, all of whom survived it, he is the last one living. He went through it all and came out unscathed. He came to Atlanta in 1870.

Italian Tells Of New Method To Find Planets

BY EDWARD A. STORER.
United News Staff Correspondent.
ROME, March 30.—There is such a thing as being right when all the other fellows are wrong, and that is what Rafael Bandanti thinks he is in relation to all other astronomers. Bandanti, self-made scientist who recently announced he had discovered and identified four new planets from his cellar observatory, has commented on astronomers who scoffed.

"Doubts and criticisms of the scientific world regarding my announcement affirming the existence of other planets beyond the sphere of Neptune are perfectly understandable," he told the United News.

"Modern astronomy has available only the old method of perturbations, as it is called, for tracing remote stars at enormous distances from the sun. By this system a planet is kept under observation for a long time and from an examination of its acceleration or retardation a mathematician deduces the exact position where a disturbing body is to be found."

"By this method," followed by the late Dr. Percival Lowell, and even before him—it is possible to trace unknown planets in a given field but we learn nothing of the existence of other planets in other localities."

"My system, on the contrary, is new and different. It permits identification of disturbing bodies influencing the solar system of which this world is only a minor part. It permits us to fix the exact time of their revolutions around the sun and consequently their precise distance from the sun."

"It is on account of this system that I am in a position to state that the planet X discovered recently at Flagstaff, Ariz., is not the first beyond Neptune nor even the second. Definite proof of this can be seen from the fact that its distance as well as its revolution around the sun are double what has been supposed."

Former Chief Lanford In Last Resting Place
Former Detective Chief Newport A. Lanford was paid final tribute at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the Woodward Avenue Baptist church while the Atlanta police band played the requiem and his former comrades acted as pallbearers and formed an honorary escort.

The services were officiated over by the Rev. T. T. Davis and the Rev. E. L. Smith, following which interment was held in Greenwood cemetery. Pallbearers were Captain A. J. Holcombe, Lieutenant T. O. Sturdivant, Captain Grover Egan, Lieutenant Buck Weaver, Captain G. T. Butler and Lieutenant L. J. Carroll.

Former Chief Lanford died at his residence, 504 Boulevard, S. E., Saturday morning after a long illness, in his 69th year. He was born in De Kalb county near Lithonia, May 25, 1861. He served as head of the Atlanta detective bureau from September, 1910, until May, 1918, when he was forced to retire because of illness that later was to cause his death. His first retirement was in 1918, but his health improved until he was able to return in 1924 but was again forced from active duty in 1928. He was confined at his home from that time until his death. He was originally appointed to the police force September 10, 1888.

DAUGHTER OF BOOTH TO SPEAK IN ATLANTA

Mrs. Catherine Booth-Clibborn Will Hold 2 Weeks' Revival at Local Church.

Evangelistic services conducted by Mrs. Catherine Booth-Clibborn, daughter of the late General Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, will be held in the Atlanta Gospel tabernacle, on Capitol avenue, beginning April 13 and continuing for two weeks. It was announced Sunday. She will speak twice daily at the tabernacle, besides filling engagements elsewhere in the city during her stay.

The famous leader who, throughout central Europe is known as the Marchioness, or field marshal, was the founder of the Salvation Army in France, Switzerland, Belgium, and Holland, where she devoted 25 years of her early ministry, holding services in all important centers, and preaching in the French tongue. She also has spoken extensively in the British Isles, Canada and the United States. Her latest protracted campaign was held a few weeks ago in the First Presbyterian church of Atlantic City, N. J., to which she came direct from England. She is no longer connected with the Salvation Army, but is engaged in general church evangelism among the various denominations.

Mrs. Booth-Clibborn is said to be one of the most powerful women speakers in the world.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING!

Excuse our enthusiasm, but we see good cause for rejoicing as the Music Defense League nears the 2,000,000 membership mark after a few short weeks of effort.

And, if that doesn't prove that the American public wants Living Orchestras and Organists in the Theatre, what would?

There is nothing EXclusive about this swiftly-growing society. It's INclusive—inclusive of the intelligent citizenry of the New World. And that covers a lot of people, cynics to the contrary notwithstanding. It should, by the way, include YOU.

To become a member in good standing of the Music Defense League one needs only the discriminating taste to know that the art of music is worthy of preservation, and the good sense to want one's money's worth. There are no dues, no obligations.

Throughout the world friends of music are alive to the cultural menace of Canned Music in Theatres. Even the governments of England, France, Spain and Italy are considering measures to prevent this artistic debasement.

American music lovers have chosen the popular and democratic course—that of registering public demand through the Music Defense League.

What if theatrical interests are momentarily deaf to all considerations save profits gained through false economy? They will heed the voice of the public when that voice attains a sufficiently compelling volume. For the public must be served.

If you value the cultural influence of music... if you feel that the price you pay for theatrical entertainment entitles you to real music rendered by living musicians in the theatre, sign the coupon below and mail it.

to the report of Call Officers Floyd and Olin Williams. Mrs. Steel was treated at Grady hospital and allowed to go home.

In a second accident of Sunday three persons were slightly injured and two arrested made. An automobile driven west on Glenn street by Tom Elder, 438 South Pryor, is said to have been struck by a machine driven by John Wright, negro, of Griffin, who was driving north on Pryor street. The collision took place at the intersection of the two streets.

Elder was cut over one eye, and De Witt Smith, who also resides at the Pryor street address, and who was riding with him, was cut about the neck. Miss Annie Mae Tanner, of 721 Windsor street, another occupant of the auto, was cut and bruised about the arms. All were treated at a private hospital.

Motorcycle Officers Reggie McLain and J. S. Tuggle, who investigated the wreck, docketed a case of reckless driving against both drivers.

Parachute Saves Mildred Kaufman

RUFFALO, N. Y., March 30.—(UN)—Thrown headlong from the seat of her airplane as she was within 10 loops of breaking her own record for a new loop, Mildred Kaufman, 22, of Kansas City, managed to open her parachute today and float 6,000 feet downward in safety. Her plane demolished.

An interested group at Buffalo airport saw Miss Kaufman make loop after loop in her plane, trying to break her record of 46. On the 50th she was torn loose from the seat in which she was strapped as the motor stalled. Headlong, Miss Kaufman was shot from the plane. She retained her nerve, and soon managed to get her parachute open.

The plane was shattered as it crashed to earth. Miss Kaufman floated down unharmed. Airport officials ran to aid.

"I'm all right," she said calmly. "I'll try it again soon."

Navy Opposes Bill To Reward Williams

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(UP)—The navy department is opposed to legislation pending before the house naval committee to retire Lieutenant Alfred J. Williams, noted speed and acrobatic aviator, with the rank of a captain, because to single him out would "be a severe blow at navy morale."

Chairman Britten, of the house naval committee, was advised by acting Secretary Jahncke in a letter made public today, that "in the opinion of the navy department there is no justifiable warrant for placing Lieutenant Williams on the retired list."

Williams resigned, effective May 8, when he was ordered to sea duty, following his failure last year to get into the Schneider cup races in England. He gave as his reason his desire to develop speed planes. The navy department revoked the order sending him back to sea, and accepted his resignation.

Hoover Will Speak To D. A. R. Meeting

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(UN)—President Hoover's first formal address in several months will be made to the Daughters of the American Revolution here April 18, and is expected to include a re-statement of his policy with reference to the national welfare.

The D. A. R. tonight announced the president's speech would be made to the organization's annual "continental congress," here, and would be broadcast by radio.

The speech will give Mr. Hoover an opportunity if he wishes to discuss the London conference, developments of which have absorbed much of his attention in recent weeks, and also to outline his views on the subject dear to the hearts of the D. A. R., national defense.

NEW YORK, March 30.—(UP)—Mrs. Henry Ford is to address the audience of a dozen broadcasting stations tomorrow afternoon.

She will speak on "Woman's Part in Making America Better."

President of the National Farm and Garden Association. Her talk will start at 3:45 p.m. eastern time, and go to WJZ, KDKA, WJL, KYW, KSTP, WHAN, WSM, WJAX, WFTS, WRC and WMC.

Mayor's Party Wins In Monocan Voting

MONTE CARLO, March 30.—(UP)—The party of Mayor Eugene Marquet, favorable to the maintenance of the present dynasty in Monaco, today carried the national and municipal elections by an overwhelming majority.

The elections passed off very calmly under the watchful eyes of army and police. The military forces, supplemented by French detectives and secret service men, crowded in front of the city hall, appearing to outnumber the voters, who came and went in small groups.

In view of his large majority, Mayor Marquet is expected to prevail upon Prince Louis of Monaco, who is understood to be thoroughly disgusted with the party bickerings and casino quarrels, to abandon the idea of abdicating. The prince considered doing this in February, but was dissuaded by the French government, and decided to await the result of the elections.

Cherry Trees Bloom In National Capital

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(UP)—The famed Japanese cherry blossoms that for a few days each spring adorn Potomac park laid a faint shade of pink around the brim of the tidal basin today, but the chill of the day was as much of a deterrent to visitors as to the bursting buds.

Additional policemen assigned to the park found little to do. The traffic that usually clogs the thoroughfares in the vicinity of the trees on the first day the blossoms appear did not reach such proportions today as to require unusual direction.

Not yet in full bloom, the opening buds nevertheless spread a bright spring color over the cherry trees that contrasted strangely with the leafless limbs of the other trees of the park.

Motorists from many states were in evidence among the machines that visited the park.

Capital Officials Probe Dry Arrests

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(UN)—A police drive against saloons brought on an investigation of the capital's liquor squad and its tactics, which have been held illegal in one case by the United States attorney's office.

The liquor squad invaded a home without a warrant and arrested Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Harmon and confiscated liquor which they said was for personal use. Prosecutors refused to bring charges, indicating they believed the entry illegal, and the couple through their attorney made plans to bring suit for false imprisonment.

Police Superintendent Pratt has ordered an investigation, after frequent dissatisfaction with Sergeant Leterman's statement that he had "legal authority" for the raid. Leterman said he had a warrant for the arrest of another man said to live at the same address.

'Penny Scales' Looting Foiled by Patrolmen

After smashing the strong box of a penny weighing machine in front of 37 Whitcomb street shortly before dawn Sunday two young white men were routed by passing patrolmen before they could collect approximately 5,000 pennies the scales contained, a report of Officers V. H. Howell and C. E. Allen at headquarters revealed.

In three other cases of breaking and entering reported to the police Sunday DeLamater's pharmacy, 260 North Boulevard; Newell and Tom's Office Equipment Company, 71 Walton street, and a filling station at 165 Georgia avenue, suffered small losses.

2 Negroes, Jailed In Hog - Stealing, Held for Murder

MACON, Ga., March 30.—(UP)—Sheriff's deputies investigating a hog-stealing case here stumbled into the solution of a murder case that had its setting in Atlanta more than a year ago, it was announced tonight at the sheriff's office.

Robert Andrews, a negro who came here from Waycross, was arrested about a month ago for hog stealing and was put in solitary confinement. Henry Jordan, called Major, a companion of Robert, was arrested for investigation when a big stock of automobile tools and fresh meat was found under his bed. He also was confined alone.

Saturday night Major sent for a deputy sheriff. Then he unfolded the Atlanta crime. He said it was he who shot the man, Robert Walker, after an altercation when Walker tried to shoot him. Robert confirmed the story.

SLAYING TOOK PLACE HERE A YEAR AGO.

Andrews and Jordan were lodged in Fulton tower Sunday under charges of murder. Jordan stated to reporters that he shot and killed Robert Walker, another negro, here about a year ago. The killing took place at the home of Lela Jordan, his sister, he said, when Walker came in, began cursing and then reached for his pocket as if for a gun, when admonished to be orderly. The home where the shooting occurred is located in "People's Town," a negro settlement on the south side of Atlanta beyond Lakewood park. What part Andrews played, if any, could not be learned.

New Company Is Organized To Operate Piggly Wiggly

Executives of the newly organized Winn & Lovett Grocery Company of Georgia which has purchased the Piggly Wiggly stores of Atlanta. Upper left is W. R. Lovett, president of the new company, and upper right C. P. Whidden, vice president and general manager. Below are C. T. Jennings (left), secretary and treasurer, and W. D. Cordray, general manager of the meat department.

Sale of the Piggly Wiggly stores of Atlanta to the Winn & Lovett Grocery Company is announced by W. R. Lovett, president of the new operation, the deal involving approximately $400,000.

Other executives of the purchasing company are C. P. Whidden, vice president and general manager; C. T. Jennings, secretary and treasurer, and W. D. Cordray, general manager of the meat department.

All of the officials are associated in the Winn & Lovett Grocery Company of Florida, which is said to be the largest independent grocery concern operating in that state and have had extensive experience in the grocery business.

Mr. Lovett has been operating grocery stores for the past ten years in Florida, and Mr. Whidden has been in business for 20 years, having operated both in Georgia and Florida. Mr. Cordray has spent 25 years in the meat business.

Announcement is made by Mr. Lovett that there will be no changes made in the personnel of the organization and that practically all employees will be retained in their present capacities. He also announced that the Piggly Wiggly policy of offering the very best merchandise at the lowest possible price would be adhered to strictly.

The deal includes 36 Piggly Wiggly stores in Atlanta and suburbs and the office and warehouse building at 328 Hunter street, S. E. Mr. Lovett says that it is the intention of the company to develop the stores to become a greater factor in the grocery business in Atlanta, and that additional stores would be opened as soon as desirable locations could be found.

The purchasers organized the company as a local corporation and will make their homes in Atlanta. Mr. Lovett spoke enthusiastically over entering business in Atlanta. He expressed the opinion that Atlanta "looks good," and that he is proud to be here, regarding it as a great opportunity.

Mr. Whidden is a native of Georgia, having been born and reared at Cairo.

'True Repentance' Urged by Dr. Fuller

"As much as I desire the growth of the church, I want not one soul to enter into the kingdom of fellowship here save with the deepest urge of true repentance," declared Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, pastor of the First Baptist church, Sunday morning in the second of a series of sermons on the subject of repentance. His topic was "Repentance Illustrated."

Decrying the "cold blooded manner" in which people of today regard sin, Dr. Fuller declared that the old time mourners' bench might better illustrate true repentance, with its depth of sorrow for past sins. He quoted scriptural authority that those in repentance should "mourn for him as one mourns for his only son," and contrasted the terrible sorrow at the loss of a first-born with the light-hearted manner in which the repentant cast off their sins. From Psalms 34:18, he repeated the passage, "A broken and contrite heart, O God, Thou wilt not despise."

GRUNDY OPENS WAR ON POLITICAL FOES

Attacks Atterbury, Pennypacker, Head, for Conspiracy To Control State.

PHILADELPHIA, March 30.—(UP)—United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy, who seeks the republican nomination for senator, today issued a statement attacking W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad and republican national committeeman from this state, and members of the William S. Vare "war board," who are backing Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for senator and Francis Shunk Brown for governor. Senator Grundy coupled the names of Councilman Charles B. Hall, Sheriff Thomas W. Cunningham and State Senator Samuel W. Salus of Vane's Philadelphia organization, in his attack on Atterbury.

"By grace of the political machine now guided by the so-called 'war board' composed of Tom Cunningham, Charlie Hall, Sam Salus, et al., Mr. Atterbury is now the republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania," Senator Grundy said. "And in his dual positions as republican national committeeman and president of the Pennsylvania railroad Mr. Atterbury has been and is the directing mind in the conspiracy being carried out by Cunningham, Hall, Salus and their pawns by which the Philadelphia gang and the Pennsylvania railroad are attempting to grab control of the state government and the public treasury, dictate the personnel and policy of the public service commission, and dominate all the important relations of this great state with the federal government." The statement asserts that in a floundering effort to explain the political conspiracy that has been afoot by the Pennsylvania railroad-Philadelphia gang combination, Hall says that they sought an alliance with me "in order that President Hoover's hand might be upheld."

"I leave it to others to resent the impudent audacity of those words," Senator Grundy said.

"However, Mr. Atterbury, as the republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania, is, officially at least, the ranking member of the republican party in Pennsylvania in the party's relationship to federal affairs. It would seem to me to be in order, therefore, and hence I make the suggestion, that Mr. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad and the directing head of this Pennsylvania railroad-Philadelphia gang combination, explain to the people of Pennsylvania in just what way that sinister combination is 'upholding President Hoover's hand'—and against what."

Two Burned.

OPORTO, Portugal, March 30.—(UP)—Two women were burned in the last night when fire destroyed one of the city's largest dry goods stores. The bodies were found in the ruins. The women were sleeping on one of the upper stories of the building.

HOLMES URGES NEGRO TO LIVE ECONOMICALLY

Rev. B. R. Holmes, president of Holmes institute, in speaking before the congregation of the Amanda Flipper African Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday morning, praised conditions in the south in relation to the affairs of negroes. He said, "No condition exists in the south, as it does in the north and east, where thousands of colored people are without jobs and absolutely dependent upon charity."

He then admonished those that had good positions to save money and not to spend it foolishly. Rev. W. L. Renfro, the pastor, spoke of the interest shown by the white people in Atlanta toward worthy causes helping the colored citizens.

Pioneer Storage Company Renders Excellent Service

The name Woodside has been identified with the growth and progress of Atlanta for over 40 years, being established in the storage business at Edgewood avenue corner of Bell street.

Nearly 30 years ago the Woodside company built its first of a group of three buildings at the present location and then as business grew added number two and then number three building. Two facing Edgewood avenue and the third on Bell street across from the Municipal market.

Careful handling of one's furniture in moving, packing, shipping or storing would be one of the worries of those moving or breaking up house-keeping, but with Woodside handling the furniture, "Careful" is their slogan, and they take the utmost care of everybody's furniture that they handle.

The cold storage department of the Woodside company is extra good and a temperature of 25 degrees is maintained. Thus insuring all rugs, furs and other clothing stored with them of being protected from moths and other parasites.

This department is used quite extensively by Atlanta people who are living in their own homes yet wish to protect some of their valuable furs and rugs when not needed.

Experience has proved to many that used furniture brings small money returns if a hunkling of the furniture is sold. Others might think it would be damaged a good deal in transit. This has not been the case in Woodside careful handling, packing and crating, for they have received hundreds of letters from people they have packed their furniture saying that the goods arrived all right.

Clear furniture and especially the upholstered pieces, carpets and rugs will not deteriorate as quickly as if the dirt or grease is left in them, and this company vacuum cleans all things of that nature before packing them.

Due to being pioneers in the storage business the Woodside company is a member of the National Furniture Warehousemen's association, and also the Southern Warehousemen's association, John J. Woodside being treasurer of the latter.

The company is an active member in the subsidiary association, the Allied Van Lines, it has long distance hauling connections that permits it to guarantee the safe delivery of a customer's best furniture or other goods as far away as the Pacific coast.

Due to the construction of the storage buildings of the Woodside company, the all-night watchman kept there and A. D. P. & T. protective connecting service, if the watchman was to discover anything wrong in his half hour patrol, as a fire, he does not have to go but a few yards to reach any one of the many fire alarm boxes scattered over the three buildings. This fire protection earns the company the lowest rates of insurance.

A fact that illustrates what careful packing and wrapping the company does was recently brought out when a man who had stored his furniture there 18 years and six months ago decided to take his furniture out and start housekeeping again, and to his pleasure and delight it was as good looking to him as the day he stored it.

Large Dairy Near Atlanta Produces 1,700 Quarts Daily

One of the largest dairies in Georgia is located 13 miles north of Atlanta near Chamblee. It is the W. O. Pierce dairy and has 195 cows producing 1,700 quarts of milk daily for 1,400 customers on the North Side of Atlanta.

The well-fed and what may be truly called contented cows are selected from the best of the Holstein, Jersey and Guernsey breeds and are housed in large specially built barns, being well lighted, ventilated, drained and equipped to care for the cows in the cleanest manner possible.

Certified milk for babies is a special feature of this big dairy, and the Fulton county medical department sends one of its experts to inspect the dairy once a week and a veterinarian to look over the herd once a month; thus insuring that the milk is produced and cared for under sanitary conditions.

Mr. Pierce says "We spare no expense in the producing and care of our milk, and each one of our organization of 24 people exercises the utmost care at all times to see that our milk is produced, cared for and delivered to our customers as clean and wholesome as is humanly possible."

Mr. Pierce is one of the state's foremost champions of milk and advocates that mothers give it freely to their babies and recommends that every person that is off in weight or in a run down condition drink plenty of milk.

PRODUCE COMPANY BUSINESS ACTIVE

It might be interesting to many to know the part a large poultry firm plays in the everyday life of a big city like Atlanta.

Take the Capital City Produce Company of 113-115 Piedmont avenue. Here is a place right in the city where a person may get on live or dressed chicken or a merchant or hotel keeper can get a thousand chickens from all points in Georgia and adjoining states and likewise geese, ducks, turkeys and guineas when and where available and very often has fancy stock that chicken fancier can get very reasonably.

The feeding of the poultry in the Capital City Produce Company's show and salesrooms is also an interesting procedure, as the chickens are not fed the usual coarse feeds but fed a processed milk that they like. After they are fed on it a few days their flesh becomes soft and tender.

This firm has a great many women customers all over Greater Atlanta who go direct to them when they want one or more nice chickens for home use or special occasions and pick out those that they think are what they want and have them dressed then and there. This service takes but five minutes, so well equipped is the company to do it.

The manager, L. C. Loveless, says the company will buy live fowl in quantities as small as two and pays cash and highest market prices on delivery.

Mr. Loveless further says that the company renders a co-operative service to scores of retailers or large consumers.

Baker Transfer Co. Says Business Good

The splendid increase in business of the Richard A. Baker Transfer & Storage Company, during the past 60 days, is one of the barometers that trade in general is showing a good increase in the Atlanta territory.

This firm is principally engaged in hauling every kind of freight to and from the several freight houses for the merchants and manufacturers of Atlanta. It has handled more freight in the past 60 days than it did last year.

To give some idea of the great volume of business this busy transfer company does, it hauled 368,000 pounds in one day, and this without a dollar's worth of damage to the many different owners of the freight scattered in all parts of Greater Atlanta.

The office of this company is located in the N. C. & St. L. railway yards, a few hundred feet west of the Union depot, very convenient for all merchants and manufacturers.

The merchant does not have to worry about freight. The company's men in the several freight offices will pay the freight and deliver it without loss of time if requested to do so.

The personnel of this company, headed by Mr. Baker, is composed of men young in years but old in the transfer business, all having between 5 and 15 years' experience and they all have the confidence of the many freight traffic men they come in contact with.

The subsidiary company of Richard A. Baker Transfer & Storage Co., which is the B. & E. Transportation Co., handles L. C. freight movements to connecting line for local railways.

The motto of the Richard A. Baker company is "Service and Dependability."

Business Review

Pioneer Business College Reports 'Splendid Success'

Miss E. Katherine Reid, daughter of Judge C. S. Reid, 14, having splendid success in her management of Creighton's Business College.

This institution was established more than 41 years ago by the late Professor Creighton and thousands of its graduates have made a success in life based on the training they received.

Professor Creighton just prior to his death made a long lease on the splendid white faced building on Pryor street and Plaza Way. Being centrally located, it is very convenient for students from all parts of Atlanta to attend.

The equipment for teaching and convenience of the scholars is the last word in school equipment and harmonizes with the building in which it is used. The large shorthand room, the typewriting and dictaphone and filing room are all well lighted and new.

Miss Reid was with Professor

Creighton for over 10 years before his last illness and carries on in the methods that gained fame for his college. She teaches Creighton's phonetic shorthand based on Pitman's method evolved by Professor Creighton after long years of study.

This method of teaching shorthand enables a student to become an expert in four or five months. It is very popular also with the students at Agnes Scott and Brenau Colleges, where it is now being taught.

One of the many advantages of this institution is that each student receives individual instruction in shorthand, making it possible to start the course at any time.

Miss Reid has surrounded herself with a corps of efficient teachers. Having obtained the fullest advantage in educational work after her own graduation from Agnes Scott College, she wants to be helpful to all young girls who wish to earn their own way in the world.

Lambeth-Eskridge Offers Big Values in Used Cars

At the corner of West Peachtree place and Spring street is one of the largest and busiest used car lots in Atlanta and here can be seen more than 150 cars and trucks that are in good running order ranging from $35 up to cars that have run but a few hundred miles.

This lot is run by the Lambeth-Eskridge Company, the well-known Dodge dealers of Atlanta and vicinity, and the management attributes much of the sales success lately in new cars to the splendid trade values offered on used cars.

The popularity of the Dodge Brothers motor vehicles is gratifying to the Lambeth-Eskridge Company.

Many good cars can be bought for $65 that look well and need no immediate repairs or tires, being in first-class running order and suitable for family, salesmen, workmen, small deliveries or other purpose.

As there is a wide variety in style and make of cars on this used car lot there are many splendid bargains for anyone that wants a good car, and no delays in driving it away. The opportunity is given those who may need a little time, as much as 12 months, to pay, so anyone that wants a car need not be without one.

The sales organization at this lot is under C. C. Wyong, one of the most popular automobile salesmen in Atlanta, and C. E. Stegall, who was connected for 34 years with the Harry L. Schlesinger Candy Company.

In addition to the cars the company has 15 or 20 trucks on the lot, and they also are ready for service.

Gold Rush Is Under Way In Prize Campaign Offer

Announcement of Additional Awards Brings Active Response From Contestants.

The gold rush is on—full blast! Not since the first days of The Atlanta Constitution's prize campaign, in which 18 automobiles and many other good things are to be awarded, has genuine enthusiasm been so evident as it is now. The double offer of special gold prizes and extra credits which lasts until April 19 has won its charm over all the candidates, and they, as a result, are forging ahead in the credit columns.

As a special event this offer bids fair to stand out in this interesting race as the biggest and most liberal opportunity ever given to candidates in a newspaper campaign.

New candidates continue to enter the race for a fortune in prizes, a number of nominations being received daily.

Opportunity Halted.
Winning a new $3,120 Pierce-Arrow and $1,000 in gold, or a new $2,835 Franklin sedan and $500 in gold, or a $1,615 Nash sedan, or a $1,405 Geo sedan, or a $1,235 Marmon Roosevelt sedan, or a $1,180 Chrysler brougham, or a $965 Pontiac sedan, or a $935 Essex coach, or a $825 Chevrolet coach, or a $608 Ford sedan, is an opportunity that does not come often.

Every one of the prizes is free. Credits alone will decide the winner, and these credits are obtainable by securing renewal and new subscriptions to The Constitution.

The present is a particularly fruitful credit period, for on the $30 club of new prepaid subscriptions a bonus of 100,000 extra credits will be given and for every $30 worth of contract subscription a bonus of 50,000 extra credits will be given.

Besides, those seven candidates turning in the highest amounts of new subscription business will share in $500 in special gold awards, given in addition to the regular awards. There are seven gold prizes ranging from $250 down to $25.

This is a good time to recall the old Persian proverb:

"Three things come not back—
A spoken word,
A spent arrow,
A lost opportunity."

Your big opportunity is at hand today. It is knocking at your door. Welcome it with open arms. Enter the campaign now by sending in your entry blank (which you will find on another page), then go in and WIN!

"ROGUE SONG" TO OPEN LOCAL SHOWING TODAY

One of the most important events of the amusement season is due to open today, when the Capitol theater offers "The Rogue Song," all-technicolor singing and talking picture starring Lawrence Tibbett, famous American baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

This will mark the first appearance of one of the greatest opera stars on the audible screen and as such it is by way of an epoch in the development of this type of entertainment. Advance reports on the picture place it among the greatest yet produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, not only because of the glorious voice and splendid acting ability of Tibbett, but by reason of the remarkable plot and general all-round entertainment value of the picture itself.

The picture was directed by Lionel Barrymore and Catherine Dale Owen, lovely blonde star who recently left the legitimate stage for the talking pictures, plays the lead opposite Tibbett.

The Capitol is presenting this picture at its usual price scale and there is the customary program of Loew vaudeville in addition.

"THE BIG PARTY" HOLDS MUCH PUNCH AT FOX

A girl who yearns for excitement, her boy friend who just wants to be near her and hold her hand, a pair of gold diggers, two business partners with an eye for blonde, a millionaire with a penchant for installing cuties in expensive apartments—that's the meat of the story, "The Big Party," which opens a week's engagement at the Fox theater today.

Much of the story's action takes place at "The Big Party," in which Dixie Lee, engaged by her employers to entertain important out-of-town customers, displays a cute pair of ankles and a sweet singing voice. Her boy friend, who doesn't belong to this new set of acquaintances, busts up the party.

Sue Carol, Walter Catlett, Frank Albertson, Richard Keene, and "Whispering" Jack Smith take the principal roles, along with Dixie Lee and the result is a most engaging story, full of comedy and dramatic moments.

MEN TO HEAR DOCTOR TAYLOR THIS WEEK

Dr. M. Sayle Taylor, distinguished authority on sex, will give his presentation "Married Love," to audiences of men only all week at the Rialto theater, beginning this afternoon at 2:30. There will be two performances daily, at 2:30 and 8:30.

Dr. Taylor spoke to audiences of women only all last week, large crowds hearing him and expressing strongest endorsement of the lessons on sex and health and marital success that he brings.

The presentation "Married Love," is an effort to bring to the general public that knowledge of sex matters which should be possessed by every person married or contemplating matrimony. It reveals the causes for lost youth, lost health, lost love and lost happiness and offers a startling solution for the ever growing evil of divorce. It is couched in plain, unguage, yet never so as to offend good taste. Assisting in the presentation is Professor Samuel E. Olmstead, who gives a remarkable physical culture demonstration.

Following this week's appearances for men only, Dr. Taylor will give his presentation to women only again next week. No one under 18 years of age is admitted at any time.

After Prize Car

Miss Lilfoy Wallis, popular young resident of Americus, Ga., is one of the active candidates in The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign. Miss Wallis expects, with the support of her many friends and acquaintances, to become the owner of one of the eighteen automobiles offered by The Constitution.

Fear of Gangsters Causes Suicide Try

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(AP)—Alighting from a train at Union station late today August Lozzi hailed the contract subscription a bonus of 50,000 extra credits will be given.

"And the one where there is the most water," he added.

Later he ordered the cab halted in the middle of a bridge over the Potomac river.

"If you are going to jump off this bridge, I warn you that the water is good and cold," the driver told him.

Lozzi handed the driver $6 and dived over the rail. The driver shouted for help and workmen and police pulled him out. He was put back in the taxicab and rushed to a hospital.

Lozzi said he was from Belleaire, Ohio, and that he had been pursued from Detroit by gangsters, whom he had been told were planning to "take me for a ride" because he would not carry out orders that had been given him. He said he recognized gangsters on the train and again in Union station and had decided to take his own life. He is being held for investigation.

MELODRAMA OFFERED AT ERLANGER TONIGHT

Presenting their first melodrama before an Atlanta audience, the Erlanger Theater Players tonight open a week's presentation of "Brothers," sensational New York and Chicago success in which Bert Lytell starred for more than a year.

Since their arrival in Atlanta, the popular production company has given, at the Erlanger Theater, three magnificent productions of outstanding comedy successes of the legitimate stage. They have attracted large crowds in a different type of play.

Butler Hixon, the leading man, has a difficult dual role this week and Director Harry McKee states that his work at rehearsals has been a delightful revelation. Another of the perfect stage productions for which Mr. McKee is famous is promised and, all in all, it looks like a bigger than ever week at the Erlanger. There will be the usual matinees on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, with seats for all performances on sale now at the box office and at Phillips & Crew Piano Company on Peachtree, near Harris.

BIGGEST OIL GUSHER LOSES MONEY RAPIDLY

Uncontrolled Flow Causes Company To Bear Heavy Damage Account.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 30.—(AP)—Running wild, Oklahoma's newest and largest gusher today continued to spout thousands of barrels of petroleum high above its derrick, defying all efforts of oil men to control its flow.

A stiff wind scattered the oil spray across the countryside at a mounting loss to the owner of the well, the Mary Sidik No. 1, of the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company.

The well came in last Wednesday as a dry gasser, but later blew itself in for an initial oil production estimated by operators at approximately 2,000 barrels an hour. Oil men estimated its gas flow at 200,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Scores of workmen have been engaged day and night in efforts to tame the gusher and save the heavy waste of petroleum. The constant danger of ignition from friction or other possible sparks makes the task extremely hazardous. An attempt to install a master gate still was being made today and workmen hoped to accomplish the task soon.

Roads leading to the well in the south Oklahoma City field were crowded today with excursionists and sightseers.

This wild well, like all others of its kind, is a source of much waste and expense. Workmen must be paid whether they are able to do anything or not, and pay schedules for the hazardous labor of shutting off oil wells are high. Then, too, there is the loss entailed by shutting down nearby wells whose crews must be paid just the same as though they were working.

Scores of persons who made their homes on the windward side of the gusher, just south of the field, have been obliged to evacuate their houses and the oil companies are paying their expenses in hotels. Damage to the oil drenched homes must be paid, as well as damage to farms in the path of the spray.

Funeral Is Held For Ben H. Taylor

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., March 30.—(AP)—Funeral services for Ben H. Taylor, local attorney and son of former Governor Alf A. Taylor, were held here today with a very large attendance of friends and relatives, including the former governor and his wife. Approximately 1,000 automobiles were in the cortege from the church to the cemetery.

And when he arrived, things began to happen fast. See

French Press Hails Young Plan Passage

PARIS, March 30.—(AP)—The French press today generally referred to the practically unanimous ratification of the Young plan in the early morning hours as a "historical event of major importance."

The newspapers pointed out that the International bank may now start work toward mobilization of the first annuities to be paid under the plan. The press regards nearly unanimous ratification in the senate as a foregone conclusion.

The radicals and socialists in the chamber voted solidly in favor of ratification, the official vote being 527 for 38 against. With 21 absences and 14 deputies absent, the radicals contributed 106, the socialists 98 to the yeas. The 38 nays included nine communists and a sprinkling of dissenters in the center and right parties.

In the press it was said that "European economic collaboration at last is under way." Le Temps said "Based on new foundations of financial solidarity of the nations, instead of the formal political accords, peace at last has come to Europe."

One Feared Burned In Hotel Blaze

DARLINGTON, S. C., March 30.—(AP)—Mrs. George Wright, 70, of Darlington county, a guest in the Darlington hotel last night, was missing after fire destroyed the hotel and six other business establishments early today and was believed to have burned to death.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered in the Star cafe at 2 o'clock this morning. Whipped by a strong northeast wind, the flames quickly spread to the hotel and adjoining stores.

Firemen carried many guests down ladders to safety. The hotel management said all guests were known to have escaped from the building except Mrs. Wright. She could not be located and firemen were searching the ruins late today for her body.

Property loss from the fire had not been estimated late today. In addition to the hotel and cafe other establishments burned were Langston haberdashery, Wellington and Bennett's hardware store, R. F. Hutchins paint shop, the Metropole and Holiday store and the Metropole ice cream factory.

Could Write a Book About It

"Nine years ago after my little girl was born dead, I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about four months. The next year I became the mother of a fine 11 pound baby boy. After he was born, I kept on with the medicine to build me up. Four months ago I was nervous and rundown and suffered from other troubles which I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would relieve so I started taking it and now I feel fine again. Many of my friends could write a book on the good the Vegetable Compound has done them."—Mrs. W. April Calendar at the Garrison Bids Fair To Be Especially Gay

PORT McPHERSON, March 29.—The month of April with its capricious moods bids fair to be gay with entertainments in army circles. Especially centers around the banquet to be given by the Port McPherston Officers' Club Friday evening, April 11. Informal dinner parties will be given by members of the garrison contingent prior to the dance and the presence of a number of attractive visitors will add to these occasions.

Mrs. J. Kirkwood Tunnah, of Arkansas, who will arrive Wednesday, April 9, will be a featured visitor as the charming guest of her son and daughter, Major J. Vincent Falise and Mrs. Falise. Mrs. M. P. Seals, of Birmingham, and Miss Margaret Huelin are the attractive house guests of Major Carl H. Seals and Mrs. Seals and have been the inspiration for a number of informal social affairs. Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver, of Columbus, Miss., and their small daughter, Betty West, will arrive April 10 to be the guests of their brother and sister, Captain Albert J. Wing and Mrs. Wing.

Tuesday, April 1, Mrs. Thomas H. Ramsey will entertain at a luncheon at her quarters at the garrison. Covers will be placed for 12 members of the garrison social circle.

Colonel Henry S. Wagner and Mrs. Wagner will entertain 70 guests at a tea this afternoon at their home on Piedmont avenue, and Mesdames Christian A. Bach, W. F. Pearson, Henry Ashley Ripley and Benjamin M. Bailey will preside at the tea table.

Prior to Colonel Wagner's retirement from active service both he and Mrs. Wagner have been honored at a number of social affairs. The dinner given Thursday evening by Colonel Christian A. Bach and Mrs. Bach was in honor of this popular couple. Major General E. G. Peyton and Mrs.

given by the officers and ladies of the Fourth Coast Artillery district and the fourth corps area. Covers will be placed for 65 guests.

Brigadier General George H. Estes and Mrs. Estes were hosts at dinner at their quarters in the post Thursday evening. Covers were placed for Colonel Lewis Morey and Mrs. Morey, Colonel Henry S. Wagner and Mrs. Wagner, Colonel Clyde Abraham and Mrs. Abraham, Captain Thomas H. Ramsey and Mrs. Ramsey and General Earl Estes and Mrs. Estes.

The Boy Scout troops of Fort McPherston entertained Friday evening at the Scout hut in honor of their parents and a number of special friends of the troop. The programs, bearing the coat-of-arms of the Boy Scouts of America and the Scout motto were printed by Linwood Beck.

Brigadier General George H. Estes, W. A. Dolson, the Scout executive of the Atlanta council, and Chaplain J. O. Ensel were honor guests. The program planned by the Scouts included a play, "The Eight Years of a Scout," with impressive candle lighting ceremony which is a part of the Tenderfoot test as a high point of the evening. Warrant Officer John Elliot is the scoutmaster of the troop and to him too much credit cannot be given for his loyal efforts in behalf of the boys of the service and the splendid results shown in the three patrols. Knot-tying contests were engaged in, resulting in a victory for the Panther patrol, while three Scouts—Warren Wilson, Howard Thorn and John Elliot, Jr.—were presented awards for high-point men of the troop. General Estes, who is deeply interested in scouting and has done so much to further the development of the McPherston troop, was presented a beautifully-decorated cake made by Mrs. Beck, a Scout mother.

Mrs. Polly Abraham entertained at luncheon at her quarters in the garrison Saturday in celebration of her 10th birthday. The table was centered with a silver bowl filled with spring flowers in tiers of yellow. Many dainty gifts attested to the popularity of the young hostess. Covers were placed for Dorothy Ann Thurman, Shirley Rooks, Mary Dismore, Mildred Woodward, Mary Pinckney, Harriet Ramsey, Barbara Ann Ramsey, Yancy Ann Gaugler, Lenora Gaugler and Polly Abraham.

In the Vatican City, the pope himself performed the nearly 1,000-year-old ceremony of blessing the golden rose with incense and holy water, thereafter pouring balsam and musk into the cup formed by the fragile petals.

The flower of precious metal was then carried in a solemn procession to the sacristy of the pope's private chapel. Later it will be bestowed on some Catholic sovereign, presumably upon Queen Helena, of Italy, in view of the conciliation affected between church and state or upon some famous church as a sign of the pontiff's devotion.

One of the "little things"

an attractive woman never does without

Study the beauty secrets of famous charmers—there is one maxim we find in the code of them all:

"Never allow your appearance to fall below par. On the most informal occasions—no matter how simple or unpretentious your costume—have every detail at its best. Your hair, your hands, must be faultlessly groomed. Your garments must be fresh—unwrinkled. Needless to say you must have them exquisitely clean."

Dry cleaning is the modern woman's answer to that demand. Fine dry cleaning is indispensable. Not "just any" dry cleaning, but a careful, personal renewal service for each separate garment—the kind of dry cleaning you find at these plants.

Choose one of these cleaners. You're sure of beautiful results for clothes. You're confident of prompt delivery by a dependable route man. You have the means to keep every garment dainty and fresh at very low cost.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

By Thornton W. Burgess.

PRICKLY PORKY GETS ACROSS.
Some talents that we little guess—Our humblest neighbors may possess.—Faddy the Beaver.

Prickly Porky was resting on the roof of Faddy the Beaver's house.

Prickly Porky merely grunted. He was not nearly so polite as Faddy the Beaver. He shook himself and when he did that several of the little spears he carries in his coat fell out. No one noticed this. Probably no one would have thought anything about it if they had noticed it. Finally Prickly Porky slipped into the water and once more headed for the other shore. Faddy the Beaver watched him. Prickly Porky certainly was a funny sight as he swam. What Faddy didn't know was that all those little spears in Prickly Porky's coat were filled with air. Each little spear, or quill, as we call it, is hollow and, of course, being hollow, contains air. So Prickly Porky couldn't have sunk if he wanted to. Those quills all helped to keep him afloat.

Prickly Porky took his time. He never does hurry anyway, whether on land or in the water. He paddled slowly along. He really isn't much of a swimmer, but he gets there just the same. Finally he approached the other shore. As it happened, Faddy the Beaver had just come down to that very place for a drink. Of course, he saw Prickly Porky coming.

The next story: "Faddy the Beaver Gets Pricked."

Richmond to Welcome Commander of Graf

The world-famous skipper of the Graf Zeppelin will motor here from Washington, where during the past several days he has been receiving honors for the dirigible's globe-circling trip and conferring with officials of the navy department concerning the May flight of the Graf. A delegation of Richmond businessmen left here last night to accompany him on the trip to Richmond.

SEVENTEENTH INSTALLMENT.

Above this noisy, careless world reigned, one grim, relentless, giant intellect remained focused, poisonously concentrated; the spider at the heart of a web stretching over all those headless flies below, and competent at any moment to enmesh them.

"False alarm," said Ned Regan. "Not a bit of it!" Stopford cried indignantly. "I said, and I say again, that some one was lurking in the bushes, listen in on us."

"But not a trace of him"—from Sutton, breathlessly.

"Yet"—Roscoe was the speaker—"Stopford is right. There's a spy amongst us."

"It couldn't have been Christopoulos," said Regan; "he was in the room at the time."

Roscoe glanced sharply at the speaker.

"I didn't suggest Christopoulos," he replied.

"But you distrust him."

"I admit that. He is very clever, but his behavior isn't normal. Let's have a brief conference; then, I suppose, we must rejoin the ladies. Naturally they know there's something afoot, and must be feeling uneasy."

Through the French windows the search party entered the room. It was now in complete darkness.

"Don't light up for a moment!" Roscoe said.

The four grouped in the darkened room, then.

"Where's your safe, Sutton?" Roscoe asked abruptly.

"The safe in which I have the map?"

"Yes."

"It's in my bedroom, directly above here."

"Ah," Roscoe mused aloud, "is there anyone else in the house who knows or suspects the fact?"

"Not a soul."

"I'm open to lay a million dollars, which I don't happen to possess, to a moulty peasant, that the zone chief, Head Centre, knows the map is here!" said Regan.

"He not only knows," Roscoe interrupted grimly, "but he is personally watching this house."

"What!" Page Sutton cried.

He stopped abruptly. Someone had rapped on the door.

"Wait!" Roscoe whispered. "I'm going out on to the lawn. Give me time to get clear."

He passed through an open French window and disappeared. Thereupon:

"Come in," Sutton cried.

The door opened and June Sutton entered.

"Why! you are all in the dark!" she cried.

"We've been watching the sunset, Miss June," Regan growled. "Switch up the light, Doc."

Stopford made for the switch, but June reached it before him and the room became brightly illuminated.

Molly O'Hay followed her friend. The pair made a very charming picture which was ruined by the appearance of Dr. Cross, with his good-humored, ugly face.

"I hope," Mr. Regan, "that Dr. Cross declared facetiously that there will be no shooting tonight. Your presence reassures all of us, however, tremendously. You are staying, I understand?"

"Yes," Regan glanced at him sharply. "I am staying tonight."

"Oh, June! What a wonderful light in the sky!" cried Molly, and drew her friend forward. "I can just see it above the trees. Do let's go out and peep!"

"There's just time, girls," said Sutton. "In another 10 minutes we'll be up. After that it won't be safe for anybody out of steel armor to move around there. Listen! Can you hear 'em?"

All stood still listening. From some place at the rear of the house came the remote but terrifying chorus of the dogs. The two girls went out through the open French window, and Dr. Cross followed them:

"In half an hour in my study!" Page Sutton whispered earnestly to Stopford. "Put Roscoe to bed when he comes back, and tell Regan."

Almost before he had ceased speaking June uttered a stifled cry.

"What's that?"

Her father sprang toward the window.

June was dragging Molly back into the room.

"In the tree!" she cried, and pointed. "In that tree—beyond the bushes! I saw something... like a huge monkey!"

Stopford leaped past the girls through the window.

Regan followed, Page Sutton at his heels, when:

"Please, daddy," cried June, "don't go! I'm terrified."

Sutton halted. Dr. Cross watched two figures retreating in the growing darkness and then, contemplating June said:

"I'll stay, too. It's a false alarm, anyway."

Stopford was heading across the lawn for an opening in the tall hedge communicating with the drive. Regan overtook him at the gap, and side by side they doubled out onto the gravelled sweep.

They were almost come to the gates when Regan pulled up; so did Stopford. A man was just entering; he raised his hand, waving them back.

"It's Roscoe!" said Stopford.

"About turn!" said Regan.

They turned around, breathless, and began slowly to walk back. Roscoe overtook them by the hedge gap.

"Listen!" he said; "there's a car coming along the road. Do you hear it? Something tells me that it's coming here."

"What of it?" Regan growled. "I don't want to know what's up that tree. I don't care two hoots about the map."

"But I do," Roscoe replied. "And if it'll relieve your mind, I was up the tree!"

"What!" Stopford cried.

"Sailors can climb, you know," Roscoe laughed. "I had reasons for climbing that tree. Do you know what I think?"

"No," said Regan bluntly.

"I think the patrol by the wolf dogs and Sutton's other precautions have made it impossible for the Zones to operate from inside the grounds."

"Well?"

"They have found a way of operating from outside. Tonight we shall know what it is."

A red light glowed in the darkness of a silent room.

"H. Q.," said a sing-song voice. "Report of Zone Officer 2 A just to hand, via H. Q. patrol standing by in her apartment. She has carried out instructions. Group master in charge of car near hedge about nine o'clock has jammed the steering gear. Page Sutton has offered the officer accommodation for the night. She has met acquaintance among the party. Has been allotted a room facing the sundr. Drake Roscoe is located at the back. Awaiting instructions in Page Sutton home. Timed 0.30. Report ends."

Out of the darkness, unheeded, because no speaker was visible, came the cultured, modulated voice of Head Centre. One listening closely might have noticed the accentuation of certain vowels, and guessed, perhaps wrongly, the nationality of the speaker.

"Report," directed the musical voice, "of H. Q. patrol covering Zone Officer 2 A."

"Report to hand. Patrol saw the wrecked car, and waited until baggage was moved into the house. Group master in charge, via the Page Sutton chauffeur, drove in one of the Sutton cars to nearest garage for mechanics. Report ends."

There was silence for 30 seconds, then:

"Report of Group master in Sutton home," came a crisp order.

"No report to hand."

"Report of Sector captain covering."

"To hand. The tree located for tonight's operation was climbed at 9.05 by Commander Roscoe. No evidence was there. Conspicuous from chief chemist safe. One other tree is available, but less suitable. Sector captain awaits instructions. This report by X Radio. Report ends."

A minute elapsed. There was nothing in the darkness of the room to indicate that a living creature occupied it. Steadily the red light glowed. Then:

By Roy White.

Boys' High and Tech High will start their annual baseball feud at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Piedmont park in the first 1936 meeting of the two. Boys' High won its only game last week over University School, while Tech High has been unable to play. The Smithies and Fulton postponed their Tuesday game because of wet grounds and Tech High was not scheduled to play Friday.

The Tech High-Boys' High clash is the feature game on the schedule of four for Tuesday afternoon. Marist, leading the league with two victories, will play Commercial High at Kirkwood park. Commercial lost to Russell Friday afternoon and, with two of the best pitchers in the league, Coach Bear's Marist team should make it three straight.

University will meet Decatur at Decatur and G. M. A. will play Russell at East Point in the two games in the first round. G. M. A. has been unable to play either of its two opening week games, due to unfavorable weather conditions. Russell High lost its opening game to Decatur but came back strong Friday to beat a veteran Commercial team.

University with its two pitchers in bad shape due to working in two games last week in the cold wind, faces Decatur and Fulton this week. Decatur and Fulton, along with Marist loom as the outstanding teams in the league at present.

Tech High has yet to show its strength but Coach Tolbert is every-thing but contented with his prospects. He admitted Friday that his two pitchers, English and Mable, are ready to go and on those two veterans he is hoping to get by until some hitters can be developed and some capable infielders found.

Boys' High showed plenty of strength in its opening game with University. McCalley pitched five innings and gave up only three hits. The Boys' High outfielders hit well, as did Stayton, the catcher.

Marist, with Moe Kunsberg, a former sandlot star, and Bill Holt, a veteran of last year, ready to take their turns in the box, appears headed for a successful season. Kunsberg is a southpaw and Holt is a right-hander.

The league has an abundance of good pitchers and several flashy infielders but the catchers and the outfielders look weak. The pitchers have already begun to cut loose. In the Marist-Fulton game last week Norton, of Fulton, struck out 14 Marist batters and Kunsberg struck out eight Fulton batters. Other pitchers are working just as well and with warm weather coming on, the city prep league is certain to see some excellent hurling before the season is completed.

Nopal, Long Shot Wins Auteuil Race

AUTEUIL, France, March 30.—(AP) Baron Edouard de Rothschild's Nopal, five-year-old son of Bayberry, out of Flowerhorn, captured the first big feature of the 1936 Metropolitan season today, finishing three lengths ahead of 13 other starters in the Grand Prix Printemps, a hurdles handicap race at two miles and a half.

Nopal, neglected in the betting, rewarded his backers at odds of 8 to 1. Allobroge was second and Fons Perthe third.

The SPORTLIGHT

An Inside Tip.

(To Bob and Ed Walsh, Jr.)
If you two kids would like to use a pitching crown upon your hair—
If you would like to reach for fame
And wind up with a winning name

By turning hitters into wrecks
And standing them upon their necks,
With more zip than the human eye
Can follow as the ball sails by—

If you, in short, would like to be
The whiz bangs of this jamboree—
I'll hand you out an inside tip
That I can guarantee won't rip;

Don't waste your time on some new fad,
Just use the stuff your old man had.

Renewing Old Wars.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 30.—The Battle of Augusta, now under way, is full of the spirit of old wars. The southern air is rife with the echo of golfing shots heard round the bunkered world.

And Bobby Jones, as usual when he starts, is in the center of the maelstrom. First of all there is his return duel with Horton Smith, the young Missouri phenom who led the Georgian by a stroke in the recent Savannah open.

But the line forms a much longer distance back. It starts with Gene Sarazen, who also led Bobby by a stroke at Skokie in 1922, a matter of eight years ago, when they were both around 20. Now they are grizzled veterans of 28.

In the field here today there is Bobby Cruickshank, the stocky Scot who fought Bobby to a draw at Inwood in the United States open of 1923 and lost in the play-off when Jones almost hit the pin on the home green with a long iron from 180 yards away. That blow brought Bobby his first major title. The field also includes Cyril Walker, who beat Jones in 1924 at Detroit in an other open with the Georgian in second place.

In 1926 at Scioto, Columbus, Jones and Joe Turnesa scrambled together down the stretch of another championship and on this occasion Jones picked up five strokes in the last nine holes with a remarkable 35 made in a mid-western gale.

There is another entry here by the name of Johnny Farrell. In 1928 at Olympia Fields Jones and Farrell finished the 72-hole test in a dead heat and in the play-off Jones, a professional, was led by a stroke as both finished with birdies on the last two holes. This was a tug of war that none who saw it will ever forget. And there is Al Espinoza, the fourth professional to tie Jones in an open championship, but in this play-off the professional was badly crushed.

Running the Gauntlet.

Jones, at one time or another, has had a hand-to-hand conflict down the stretch with many of these now assaulting his defense of Georgia. Sarazen, Farrell, Cruickshank, Walker, Turnesa, Espinoza and Horton Smith are in the lineup here and each has a memory of some sizzling scrap with the southern star.

Four of them have beaten him at one time or another in open tournaments but in turn he has beaten all four and many of them more than once or twice. Jones has always been the big target they were aiming at.

Main interest here is in the return battle of Jones and Horton Smith as the Joplin wanderer beat Bobby at Savannah and his record for the last 18 months has been one of the greatest in the history of golf. In that time he has won more than 16 open tournaments from strong fields between Honolulu and Berlin.

Young Smith has traveled from Honolulu to Berlin and back to Honolulu again in his eternal roving from course to course. And now, via Augusta and other battlefields of golf, Smith is on his way back to Scotland, France and Germany where he and Bobby will meet in three more national open contests.

Jones and Smith carry most of the interest in this southeastern open, which will be played over two fine courses, but the counter charge of such stars as Sarazen, Farrell and others may be keen enough to upset both.

The whole scene here has all the buzz and excitement of another open where local and state interest in Bobby's stand against the assaulting professionals is much sharper than even a national championship can know.

A Dazzling 100.

These sporting week-ends have already begun to crack with unusual stuff. When Cy Leland ran the 100 in 9 7-10 against the wind at Austin, the Flying Ranger moved about as swiftly as man has ever run.

Three watches caught him at 9 3-5 and those who know what wind resistance means in any race can get a clearer idea of his speed.

Claude Bracey, another Texan, is no truck horse but the fast traveling Leland beat Bracey by two yards. Leland wasn't bucking any gentle rephry. He was throwing feet and body into a stout breeze and he was also moving over a damp track. This galloping Texan might yet be the sprinter to set a new mark.

These Fight Decisions.

Another week-end outbreak came in the decision settling the McLarnin-Thompson fight. Apparently no two pairs of eyes ever see a fight from the same angle. McLarnin was given the verdict but if Thompson lost then Man O' War never won a race.

An injury to McLarnin's right hand removed a lot of the dynamite from his fist in the first round and this probably accounted for his lack of steam. But that wasn't Thompson's fault. He won, but he missed the chaplet of Apple Blossoms.

Why not try out the system of tossing a coin after any fight that doesn't finish with a knockout? At least the net average couldn't be much worse.

Another Invasion.

Somewhere between 500 and 1,000 years ago American Indians invented lacrosse. Today an Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team, 17 strong, are on this side to meet 12 American colleges through the next few weeks. They open against John Hopkins tomorrow in Washington in the first test.

Lacrosse is all cluttered up with action, speed, skill and hard, rough play, much after the manner of hockey. The Indian tribe that invented this game was looking for something to take the place of war in between campaigns.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 30.—(AP) Leo Moon and Jim Moore, Little Rock pitchers, limited the Minnesota Millers of the American association to four hits here today and the Travelers won their second exhibition victory of the exhibition season, 3 to 1.

Sensational fielding by Strohm and Redfern at third and short helped the hurlers considerably. Al Simmons, of the Philadelphia Athletics, played left field for the Travelers. His only hit was a triple in the seventh inning and he was called out at the plate attempting to stretch it into a homer.

George Lott Wins Over Johnny Doeg.
MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 30.—(AP) Straining to complete an inspired uphill climb, George Lott won the final round of the south Florida tennis championships here today after Johnny Doeg, co-finalist three times, held set point to his own advantage.

The score was 2-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 6-6.

Lott's service and overhead game gave him the margin of victory over a man who ranked above in 1929 classifications.

Lott won 13 consecutive points with his final 13 serves and rarely was forced to return the ball.

Marcel Rainville, Canadian Davis cup star, and B. Baggaso, of Ocean City, Fla., defeated Lott and Sam Hardy in doubles competition, 7-5, 6-6, 6-3.

Cotton Workers Become 'Dodoes'

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 29.—(AP)—Employees of the Thrift Cotton mills don't play golf for nothing. Three of them have just qualified for the Hole-in-One Club. The textile workers have their own golf links just outside the mill door.

The three who sank their drives on standard length holes are Hollis F. Cobb, Paul Broom and I. S. Parker.

Colored Fighters Drill for Battles

Jack Townsend, California Joe Gans, Roy Dunn, Tiger Lawrence, Cowboy Kid and others who will participate in the bouts on Roby's card at the auditorium Wednesday night, are training at Roby's gym, 58 1-2 Decatur street, and many fans watched them in action Sunday afternoon. Each boxer went from 6 to 10 rounds, including punching the bags, rope skipping, shadow boxing and sparring.

Jack Townsend, world famous heavyweight, and Fighting Bob Lawson, top auditorium card, and another classic between California Joe Gans and Dynamite Roy Dunn, will be the two of the best welterers now in the ring. Cowboy Kid, local welter, faces a powerful foe in Tiger Lawrence, of Mississippi.

Cleve Roby has brought many outstanding colored fighters of the country for his auditorium fight shows, but says this card includes international ringmen like Jack Townsend and California Joe Gans, who have fought the world over, will outdo all his former efforts.

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—(AP) The Argentine polo team ended an invasion of the Pacific coast here today by winning its thirteenth straight victory. The Midwick Country Club four was the victim, losing 7 to 10.

CARNERA PROBE BY COMMISSION FAILS TO EXCITE

Usual "Less Than Zero" Result Is Seen for Inquiry.

NEW YORK, March 30.—(UN)—Primo Carnera's tour of American provinces is under investigation by the National Boxing Association but the inquiry has caused no excitement.

Past history shows the net results of investigations by boxing commissions and associations to be less than zero.

Boxing customers themselves show no interest in being protected. In every Carnera appearance it has been known in advance that his opponent was either a raw novice or an obvious tanger. Despite this, the tour has been a financial success, with the Carnera troupe clearing more than $115,000 for 13 comedy acts.

Carnera's managers are unworried by the N. B. A. probe, but they are more concerned with the fact that their star actor has an opportunity to follow the example of other champions and desert the ring for the movies.

Primo is under contract for a movie production. He has been guaranteed $50,000. The screen venture will mean Carnera's permanent retirement from the ring but merely a preliminary to the grand climactic smashing come-on of majestic proportions which is expected to be staged at Soldier's field, Chicago, next September, with Jack Dempsey in the other corner.

With two such colorful men as Dempsey and Carnera the prospective bout at Chicago promises to be one of the biggest gate attractions of years. Consequently Carnera's managers will take no chances of pitting their man against formidable competition.

GOOD GOLF

Chubby Watson GOLF'S GREATEST TEACHER

In the correctly made forward swing you swing the clubhead through on the ends of your arms—the clubhead swinging off your wrists entirely, not your wrists swinging the clubhead.

Being a nether golfing fallacy in such a manner that, if you let go of the club just after taking the ball the club should fly off to a point considerably to the right of your direction line. That's why a professional giving you a lesson will now and then tell you to "throw the clubhead away—on toward that apple tree over there," indicating a tree to the right of your direction line. In order to make good golf swings it is, as I have heretofore mentioned, desirable to see yourself making them, at least in your imagination, so glance at the sketch herewith and perhaps you can see exactly why you would swing your clubhead from the inside out, as the saying is. The circular path, indicating the oblique plane of the swing, would hardly admit of its being swung any other way.

In New York Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

...the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency... join it. Smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

Hating "spit" as you do, wouldn't you be horrified if you suddenly discovered that the cigar you smoked was rolled by filthy fingers—and tipped with spit? And just think . . . more than half of all cigars made in this country are made by hand, and therefore subject to the risk of spit!

Why take chances? Smoke Certified Cremo and protect yourself against this abomination! Every tobacco leaf entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that foil, wrap and tip the cigars without the possibility of spit! Try a Certified Cremo—see how wonderfully good it is! Made of the choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords, we claim Certified Cremo's quality is tastier than that of any other cigar. Don't let its 5c price stand in your way. Your physician has in mind a cigar like Certified Cremo when he recommends a mild smoke in place of heavy brands. Crush-proof . . . immaculate . . . foil-wrapped . . . Certified Cremo is the kind of cigar the late Vice-President Marshall undoubtedly was thinking of when he said, "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar!"

Contract—Collect No Money! Pre-Paid—Collect Cash!

There are two plans under which you may take subscriptions and thereby get credits and WIN in The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 Prize Campaign.

(1). The contract plan allows you to take subscriptions whereby the New subscriber agrees to take The Atlanta Constitution for 6 months or 12 months and to pay the carrier each week for the paper. These contracts can be taken for subscriptions in Atlanta and outside towns where The Constitution has carrier service.

(2). Candidates also have the privilege of taking prepaid subscriptions from both Old (present subscribers) and New subscribers and the subscriber pays in advance for the subscription.

Regular credits are allowed for these subscriptions as shown in the regular credit schedule.

By accepting contracts for ONLY New subscriptions, and not accepting Old contract subscriptions, it does away with unfairness whereby agents or carriers of the newspaper could turn over to a candidate hundreds of Old subscribers' contracts which would be very unfair to candidates working for their subscriptions. The plan of accepting contracts on only New subscriptions and paid-in-advance on both old and new subscriptions, makes the subscriptions bona fide and fair for all.

Annual Bible Conference Adjourns at Tabernacle

Nearly 3,000 Attend on Concluding Day as Plans for Next Year's Session
Are Announced.

Atlanta newspapers were given a vote of thanks by nearly 3,000 persons in attendance at the closing session of the 1930 Tabernacle Bible conference Sunday night, in appreciation for what Dr. Len G. Broughton, conference director, described as "a genius for reporting the spirit of an occasion of this kind."

The Sunday night service closed a two weeks' session at which outstanding Bible authorities from America, England, Australia, China and Latin America have spoken, and at which the total attendance was estimated at more than 65,000 persons.

Immediately following the adjournment of the conference, which Dr. Broughton said had marked a high point in every particular for the more than 30 years since he founded it here as an annual event, plans for a larger conference next year were announced. Arrangements already are in progress, Dr. Broughton said, to bring upward of 1,000 ministers here from small churches throughout the south, without expense to them, to hear lectures and sermons by recognized Bible authorities from all parts of the world.

During the final day the Rev. J. Alfred Kaye, of London, England, climaxed a series of sermons on "Manifestations of the Christian Life" with an appeal to Christian people to fulfill the chief responsibility laid on them by Jesus, "to bear witness to the word."

Dr. L. Sale-Harrison, of Sydney, Australia, concluded a series on prophecy with a review of present-day phenomena which he said fulfill Biblical prophecy as signs of nearness of the second coming to Christ. The "robot," mechanical and electrical man, he said, is described in Revelation, written nearly 2,000 years ago, as one of these signs.

Dr. Broughton, in summing up the value of the conference, said:

"It has taken me back 17 years to the last conference I had the pleasure to arrange before leaving the Tabernacle for my pastorate in London. I feel that that was just yesterday."

"The inspirational and spiritual value of the conference can never be estimated. We never had a greater. The speakers were of the highest order."

"Atlanta can never get away from the systematic, orderly teaching of these two weeks. Six services a day were held and the crowds kept to a high record the whole time."

"No gathering could hope to bring together a more able group of participants than was brought to this conference from the various parts of the world. Every man was a specialist in his line. We desire to thank them and the good people to Atlanta, especially the Atlanta newspapers, and the country at large for their splendid co-operation."

"We are already beginning to plan for a greater conference next year. Plans are being formulated to bring 1,000 ministers of small churches and other Christian workers from all over the south. Bed and breakfast will be furnished for all such workers of all denominations so as to make possible their attendance and churches will be asked to furnish transportation for them."

West End Club To Meet Tonight And Hear Black

With Eugene R. Black, governor of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank, as principal speaker, and a program of entertainment arranged, the West End Business Men's Association's annual meeting at Lee Street school auditorium tonight will be attended by the families of the members and the public generally for the first time in the history of the organization.

Hewitt W. Chambers, former president, who will preside, stated Sunday that the meeting is intended to spread the friendly good-will of the West End organization throughout the southwest section of the city. The West End Woman's Club and the Civic Club of West End, also a woman's organization, have been invited to attend, as have been all other residents.

Rich's Mandolin Club, featured many times on local broadcasting stations, will render selections throughout the evening, while three young entertainers, Evelyn Oglesby, Gloria Matthews and Jane Withers will do several songs and dance numbers to the accompaniment of Miss Julia Boyd.

AIR VIEWS

Gene-Hinton AT CANDLER FIELD

Sunday seemed to be too raw and too windy for any great outpouring of aviation fans and as a result little was doing at the airport during the afternoon. For the same reason a parachute jump which had been scheduled by Emmett Plunkett, of the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, was called off when the weather bureau reported that a gale was blowing at the higher altitudes. Plunkett decided to stay on the ground rather than run the risk of landing in a neighboring county.

No visiting ships arrived during the day, although most of those which spent Saturday night here took off for their respective destinations.

Plunkett, who started his parachute activity at Candler field last summer, announced that next Sunday, if wind and weather conditions are favorable, he will seek the altitude and free drop record for the airport. Plunkett plans to ascend to an elevation of from 8,000 to 10,000 feet, depending upon the wind situation, and make a free drop of 3,000 feet. He is to use a training outfit, which consists of a two-foot back pack and a 22-foot chest pack, both attached to the same harness, and to make his descent with both chutes open. This, he thinks, will provide a better show for the crowd, but it will place somewhat of a hardship on himself, because of the difficulty of managing two parachutes in the air.

The present altitude record of 6,200 feet is held by Jimmy Clark, parachute inspector and packer for Eastern Air Transport, Inc., who established the mark about eight months ago from a ship piloted by Champ Taylor.

With the idea of bringing Candler field operators and pilots into contact with each other, that bonds of friendship may be strengthened and closer co-operation between the organizations effected, a number of lectures, tended by the operators of the airport, state and municipal aviation officials and other friends of Candler field, will be held at the Piedmont through next Sunday, according to announcement by Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor.

Dr. Sampey's sermons will center about the gospel of John during the remainder of the week are:

Monday: Morning, "Living Water," John 4; evening, "The Bread of Life," John 6.

Tuesday: Morning, "Children of God, or Children of the Devil," John 1; evening, "A Brave Beggar," John 9.

Wednesday: Morning, "The Good Shepherd," John 10; evening, "Moses and Mary," John 11.

Thursday: Morning, "Losing to Win," John 12; evening, "The Law of Love," John 13.

Friday: Morning, "With Jesus on Earth and in Heaven," John 14; evening, "Gethsemane and Calvary," John 18.

Sunday: Morning, "The Greatest Event in History," John 20; evening, "Caring for Christ's Flock," John 21.

Edwin Armstrong, of Atlanta, will have charge of the music during the meeting. Mrs. John E. Felder is the organist. There will be a chorus choir of men's voices with solos each evening by Mr. Armstrong. Tonight Duncan McKinlay, well known Atlanta baritone, will sing a solo. Tuesday night Mrs. George W. Gifford will sing a special solo. Other soloists will appear during the week.

The services will be held at 11 o'clock each morning and at 7:30 o'clock in the evenings.

Dr. Sampey is widely known in Georgia. He has been connected with the seminary in Louisville since 1885. Last year he was elected president, succeeding Dr. E. Y. Mullins, a graduate of Howard college and has done graduate work in European universities.

When April comes, many of us are likely to think Spring is here to stay. But if you'll check the record you'll find you have used quite a lot of coal every April. There are plenty of cool nights and chilly mornings.

Better be sure there's a ton or so of good fuel in your coal bins.

You'll prefer Campbell's, of course, which has been satisfying Atlanta folk more than forty years.

one of the greatest living portrait painters of children in the world today.

More than a hundred Atlantans attended the lecture on "French Impressionistic Paintings," given by Director Schindler at the Museum at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. His talk proved particularly interesting and the colored slides in illustration, sent specially by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, added much to the value of the lecture.

In addition to those attending the lecture, approximately another hundred of visitors went through the galleries on Sunday afternoon. The museum is open daily, and on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9, to the general public with no admission charge.
